THE FEDERAL WOMAN'S AWARDS PROGRAM annually recognizes six distinguished women in the Federal career service for their outstanding contributions to Government.

Established in 1960, this Award serves to provide special recognition to women who have made outstanding contributions to the efficiency and quality of the career service of the Federal Government; dramatize and make more widely known to the public the wide variety of challenging careers for women in the Federal Government; and interest talented young women in pursuing Federal careers.

This year, for the first time, eligibility was extended to women in the legislative and judicial branches of the Government. Federal department and agency heads and Committee Chairmen nominate candidates for this honor. From among the many outstanding nominees, six award winners are selected by a board of judges composed of distinguished representatives from the private sector, academe, and government.

Carin Ann Clauss

Associate Solicitor for Fair Labor Standards
Office of the Solicitor
Department of Labor

Many groups — such as women and older workers — can be grateful for Ms. Clauss' effective leadership in Federal enforcement and litigation under the Fair Labor Standards Act; Equal Pay Act; and Age Discrimination in Employment Act. Her work, further, has brought landmark precedent decisions in the Supreme Court and in all the Circuit Courts of Appeal.

Ms. Clauss is renowned for her brilliant leadership in guiding the first case on equal pay for equal work, regardless of sex, to a favorable landmark Supreme Court decision.

Due to her negotiation with the nation's largest utility and its operating subsidiaries, thousands of women recovered more than $17 million in back wages. Also noteworthy, these negotiations resulted in the removal of sex-discriminatory pay practices in that utility.

Not only for her skills at the negotiating table and in the courtroom is she honored. We acknowledge, as well, her administrative skill in directing the teams of legal talent which have helped bring in these historic decisions.

Marion J. Finkel

Associate Director for New Drug Evaluation
Bureau of Drugs
Food and Drug Administration
Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

Dr. Marion J. Finkel's distinguished career is made up of many components. Her outstanding professional accomplishments as a clinical pharmacologist are complemented by equally notable achievements as director of a major Federal regulatory program. This is a controversial and important program which she handled with astute leadership, diplomacy and scientific excellence during a major restructuring.

But more outstanding than either her scientific excellence or her administrative leadership alone is the invaluable product of her work — safe, effective, tested new medicines available for the consumer. In her leadership of the new drug assessment program, Dr. Finkel has stressed the importance of making safe and effective new drugs available to physicians swiftly while simultaneously ensuring the public's protection.

We salute Dr. Finkel for her skill and dedication which have profoundly affected the quality of medical care in the United States, and thus the

Joyce J. Walker

Deputy Associate Director for Economics and Government
Office of Management and Budget

Joyce J. Walker, formerly Chief of the Budget Preparation Branch, has received national recognition for her effective contributions in the compilation and administration of the Federal Budget. The ability, judgment, creativity, dedication and integrity which she brings to the practice of Federal financial management are extraordinary. Particularly to be noted has been her efficient liaison work with Congress and contacts with Federal agencies. She played a major role in the meeting of the Congressional Budget and Impoundment Control Act requirements.

She is known, as well, for her unfailing civility and sensitivity to her co-workers as she pursues organizational excellence.

We applaud her, as well for the leadership she has given the Federal Women's Program itself. Her efforts as Federal Women's Program Coordinator earned for her agency a citation for outstanding work in the drive to end sex discrimination in Federal employment.
